COMSKEY, BASEBALL "OLD ROMAN," DIES

Famous White Sox Leader Comes to Close of Colorful Career.

From the beginning of the American league into an organization known the world over, the battling "old Roman" caused a sensation when in 1920 he wrecked his machine on finding that the 1919 world series had been thrown to Cincinnati.

At one sweep, he suspended seven of his stars, losing contracts worth a million dollars, and another team recovered around him another team for one player from the minor leagues he paid $100,000.

Keeps on Fighting
The White Sox never quite recovered from their 1920 slump, but to the end of his days, the "old Roman" fought on, hopefully, untiringly.

Charles Albert Comiskey was the third child in a family of eight. His father, John Comiskey, was born in Crosslough, County Cavan, Ireland. He brought the family to America in 1848 and ten years later Charles was born in Chicago August 13, 1858.

In 1874, Charles, at the age of 17, joined the Milwaukee baseball club as a third baseman. His salary was $20 a month. From Milwaukee he went to Elgin, Ill., a pitcher, remaining one year and winning every game. In 1878 he joined Dubuque, of the Northwestern league, where he played for four years. In 1881 he again changed locations, this time going to the St. Louis Browns of the American Association, owned by Chris Van der Ahe. With the Browns Comiskey played first base at a salary of $125 a month.

In 1883 he was made manager. The Browns won the American Association pennant in 1885-86-87-88, and took part in the world series of those years, winning one series, losing two and tying the fourth. In 1885, the Browns, with Comiskey at the helm, played a tie with Captain Anson's Chicago White Stockings for the championship of the world.

American League Started
Comiskey remained with the Browns until 1890 when he took charge of the Players' League club in Chicago. He returned to St. Louis in 1891, and in 1892 went to Cincinnati, where he managed the "Reds" until 1896. While acting as manager of the Cincinnati team, Comiskey met Dron Bancroft Johnson, then engaged in newspaper work in that city. Comiskey and Johnson saw the financial possibilities of another major league and thus became the chief factors in the expansion of the old Western league into the American league Comiskey's White Sox invaded Chicago, his birthplace, then exclusive National league territory, and in 1900 and 1901 won the American league pennants, thus giving Chicago its first championship team since 1857 when Adrian "Cap" Anson's club captured its final National league trophy.

Soon after his connection with the White Sox Comiskey became president and sole owner of the club, and his popularity gave it a large following. In 1910 he built a mammoth concrete stadium for the White Sox, but refused to eliminate the "two big" bleacher stands, retaining them as a mark of loyalty to this class of followers who supported him when he first invaded Chicago.

During the World war Mr. Comiskey gave 10 per cent of the gross receipts of ball games played in his stadium to the American Red Cross.

At one sweep, he suspended seven of his stars, losing contracts worth a million dollars, and another team recovered around him another team for one player from the minor leagues he paid $100,000.

HOOPER, LAVAL LAY NEW FINANCE PLAN

War Budget Cut Favored by U. S. Finance Chiefs To Aid World.

After all the re-wetting and correcting, the statement was almost completely devoid of details. It declared "real progress" had been made. It expressed a joint hope that the February armistice conference would "take advantage of the great opportunity" and that the way had been paved to "helpful action."

Behind these general expressions of accord, however, lay the untold story of an interesting three days of history.

From the beginning, M. Laval made a good impression on the American officials. They found him direct, but not lacking a sense of humor.

Almost as soon as they came together last Friday, the President and Premier Laval agreed the way to start talking about economic recovery was by talking about relieving Germany. The Hoover debt holiday, under which the German reparations payments are suspended for a year, expires next June. It now is realized Germany will be little able to pay next June than she was last June.

French set great store by the young plan adopted in 1929 for the regulation of these reparations. It has been held up as a French bulwark of unbroken importance. M. Laval insisted that if any change were made in the German reparations situation, it must be through the machinery already established under this plan.

THREE PARTIES IN RACE FOR OFFICES

Campaign Managers Define Issues of Campaigns as Election Nears.

The Marion Labor party is sponsoring an independent ticket, headed by Jesse Warwick for mayor.

The only non-political local matter to come before the voters next week is the proposed one-mill levy for poor relief purposes. This levy would produce approximately $35,000 for the city.

Township, village and school district officials will be elected Nov. 3. In Marion city, a municipal judge and two members of the school board are to be elected, candidates for these posts being non-partisan.

Defines Issues

Pointing to the accomplishments of the Democratic administration in city hall during the last two years, and asking Marion voters to elect a ticket of Democratic officials in charge for the ensuing two years, Dr. J. C. Kinsman, chairman of the Democratic executive committee, today defined what he believes are the issues of the campaign. His statement follows:

"Two and a half years ago, I accepted the chairmanship of the Democratic committee because I felt that I could do my bit for Marion, which I believe is the best city in Ohio, by being its champion against all political chances rather than by any other method."

"I know it is a popular opinion with many persons that politics run hand in hand with dishonesty and graft. This opinion may be justified in some cases. Personally, I feel that dishonesty and graft have no place in government, whether it be city, state or national. The first duty of any political organization is the part it can play in the betterment of the community and the good it can do for its citizens. So long as it stands for better government, it will be successful. But when it forgets its duty to the public and works for selfish interests, it becomes a failure."

"The day of 'patron politics' has passed. Voters today want facts. Why should constructive policies looking to the betterment of the city be set aside year after year by party politics which is broadcast by disappointed politicians and disgruntled office seekers? Can a city progress by allowing political feuds to draw its voters away from the real issues?"

"It has been my policy with my organization to further the ends of constructive politics in Marion. I am positive that the voters will welcome a movement that will tend to bring about economy, efficiency and progress in city affairs."

"Regarding the present campaign, I would say that Don Jones has been fearless, honest, efficient and economical. What administration has done more generally for the good of Marion, even when the administration, in this time of general depression, is compared with other administrations in times of prosperity? He has established a safety department whose outstanding accomplishment has been the placing of Marion city hospital, of which we all are proud, in ownership, upon the highest plane it has ever occupied. He has established a service department whose good work has been mentioned in practically every home in the city. Through his efforts, the health department of the city and county have been amalgamated, promoting efficiency and economy."

"In this campaign, we are asking the voters to realize the importance of the offices of the city auditor and treasurer. Much money can be saved in the proper administration of them. With Harry Bell as city auditor, a modern system of book-keeping and accounting could be established to handle the city's financial affairs. This should be given careful consideration by the voters."

"In the last two years the city council has had a Democratic majority. How well it has looked after the city's interests everyone knows. It has practiced economy and has not betrayed its trust. By returning the Democratic candidates to council, the voters can expect to have the city's affairs handled in a business-like manner, which, under present conditions means strict economy."

Harder Statement

Whether the present Democratic administration has a record which commends the administration to the public, especially in regard to the handling of the police department, city hospital, and the matter of letting contracts is the question left in the mind of voters by the statement of W. N. Hurder, vice chairman of the Republican executive committee, who is actively heading the committee during the illness of W. B. Strayer, chairman. Mr. Hurder's statement follows:

"The Republican organization was delayed in getting its campaign under way by the unfortunate illness of its leader, William B. Strayer, chairman of the Marion county executive committee. Mr. Strayer had in some degree formulated his campaign plans and, while he has been unable to take an active part in the campaign, 'In Mr. Strayer's absence the campaign is being carried forward by the different organizations of the party as follows: The central committee, of which J. D. Williamson is vice chairman and V. N. Dutton, secretary; the Marion county executive committee, of which W. N. Hurder is vice chairman, and the Marion county school board, of which W. N. Hurder is vice chairman. The Marion County Republican club is being rapidly recruited."

"The first work of the Republican organization was directed toward securing as full a registration as possible and the response to the efforts in this direction were most encouraging. The registration and transfers are regarded as unusually heavy for a municipal campaign."

10 PERSONS KILLED IN AIRPLANE CRASHES

One Other Critically Hurt;
Stuntin' Blamed for Death of Five.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26—Ten persons were killed and one critically injured in five airplane accidents in various parts of the nation yesterday.

Five, all men, died when an airplane fell at a landing at Alhambra, Neb. The pilot was William Doolittle of that city, who was flying with William E. Farley of Alliance; Dewey Hollibaugh of Chadron, Neb.; Henry Beck of Ashby, Neb.; and W. W. Tibbels of Alliance.

Another pilot, Harry E. R. Hall, New York broker, plunged 1,500 feet to his death during a charity air meet in Jersey City, N. J. Thousands of spectators witnessed the crash-act.

Harold Nichols of Long Beach, Calif., and Clarence Pritchard of Calexico, Calif., were killed when their biplane plunged 800 feet.

Samuel Lang, 19, was fatally injured at the Jersey City air meet when struck by a propeller of an airplane standing on the field.

Miss Mary Doer, 20, of East Cleveland, O., was killed and Raymond L. Manos of Cleveland, critically injured when their plane apparently was forced down on a farm near Palmyra, O.

By International News Service. ALHAMBRA, Neb., Oct. 26—Stuntin' was today blamed for the crash of a borrowed airplane here which resulted in the death of William Doolittle, the pilot, and four male passengers.

The plane lost a wing in midair, went into a tailspin and plunged to the ground, according to eyewitnesses, who said that Doolittle was maneuvering the ship through a loop just before the crash.

LEADERS CONFIDENT ON EVE OF ELECTION

British Press Sees Victory for MacDonald Ministry in Tuesday Poll.

LONDON, Oct. 26—Newspapers supporting the national government predicted today that it would win a majority of 150 to 200 seats in parliament at the election tomorrow as the answer to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's appeal for a "doctor's mandate" to rule the country.

At the same time Arthur Henderson, leader of the opposition, declared there has been a strong leaning toward the Labor party during the last few days and that it was difficult to forecast results. Henderson, veteran Labor leader, was taken ill last night and was ordered to bed by his physician.

David Lloyd George, leader of the Liberals, himself convalescing from a recent illness, called upon his followers to vote for free trade candidates, preferably for Liberals, but for Labor candidates rather than Conservatives. "The fate of the country," he said, "is in the hands of the Liberals."

"Labor's return would be an irreparable disaster," warned Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer and one of the founders of the Labor party.

Prime Minister MacDonald, upon whose fight for reelection at Sunday the sharpest interest of the election centers, began a personal whirlwind tour of his district today, after a week-end rest.

SEEK MARKET FOR WHEAT AND COTTON

France and U. S. Discuss New Credit Program.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—An arrangement of international credit for the purchase of American wheat and cotton abroad is under discussion between the farm board and representatives of the French government.

Pierre Gu Pasquier, economic adviser to Premier Laval, took the question up with the farm board at several conferences, and there will be further conversations later.

Chairman Stone said today, however, no definite proposals for the purchase of either farm board or private wheat and cotton have been made or agreed upon.

The discussions so far have been limited to the possibilities of arranging credit to stimulate consumption of these American produced commodities in Europe.

Both France and Germany, Stone said, will need to buy some wheat because of damage to their crops from adverse weather.

ASKS DAMAGES FOR DEATH OF HUSBAND

Mt. Vernon Man Named Defendant in Two Damage Suits.

Judgments totaling $20,000
against Frank Bartlett of Mt. Vernon are asked by Erle M. Crager and Bud H. Lawson, administrators of the estate of Jarvey Crager of Norwalk, in an action filed in common pleas court this morning.

Bartlett's car figured in a collision Sept. 30, 1931, at the intersection of routes 66 and 95 east of here in which Jarvey Crager was mortally injured. The administrators ask $20,000 for Crager's death, while the widow seeks $10,000 damages for injuries and hospital bills.

The petitions charge that Bartlett was driving 40 miles an hour, and approaching the intersection without his automobile under control, despite the warning of a huge "stop" sign on route 95. He was driving in a negligent, careless and unlawful manner when his automobile hit their Ford, overturning it and hurling it 90 feet, they charge.

Mrs. Crager claims to have suffered permanent injuries including cuts and bruises about the arms and legs. Mr. and Mrs. Crager lived in Norwalk, and were headed for that city from Huntington, W. Va., at the time of the accident. Crager was 28. His widow is 22.

Both Mrs. Crager and the administrators are represented by the law firm of Carhart, Warner & Carhart.

CLOTHING FOR NEEDY TO BE RECONDITIONED

Marion Residents Generous in Making Contributions to Welfare Society.

Marion residents responded generously to the appeal of the Family Welfare society for contributions of clothing to aid the city's needy this winter when the house-to-house canvass was conducted Saturday by the Boy Scouts and individuals interested in the work. It was announced today.

Although an attempt was made to reach every home there is a possibility that some were missed and it is requested by those in charge of the work that anyone having contributions for the commissary get in touch with the office of the society by telephoning 1883. The articles will be called for either by scouts or an individual from the office.

Officials of the society expressed their gratitude over the contributions and work of placing the clothing in condition was begun today. The commissary will be opened as early this week as the work will permit it to be announced.

More than 125 scouts and their leaders worked a total of more than 400 hours collecting the contributions which were picked up by trucks donated by 16 local firms. JAP TROOPS SPREAD DEEPER INTO CHINA

Soldiers Occupy More Territory on Reports of Chinese Bandit Attacks.

By The Associated Press. TOKYO, Oct. 26—Japanese troops have spread deeper into Chinese territory in Manchuria following reports of attacks by Chinese bandits.

General Honjo, commander of Japanese forces in the northern Chinese province, said the latest maneuver was to protect the Taonan-Chenchiatun-Supinkai railway, which was built with money loaned by the Japanese controlled South Manchurian railway.

Honjo reported the Japanese line asked for protection on the Taonan railway. The troop movement started Sunday. The general's report indicated about 1,000 bandits, many of whom are alleged to be masquerading as Chinese troops, attacked stations near Chenchiatun Friday and again on Saturday. They also attacked other stations where Japanese have property, the general said.

A spokesman said Japanese troops and citizens, as well as Japanese property in Manchuria, are in constant danger from bandit bands and marauding Chinese soldiers.

Quick Relief from Constipation

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for castor.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 25 years, and cabinet's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain oil, and just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No gripping to the "kneys" or those little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant relief from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

STREET SCENE PLAYS AT OHIO

"Street Scene" playing at the Ohio this week, is a dramatic triumph for its producer Samuel Goldwyn and its author, Elmer Rice. The cast is remarkably fitted to the character roles which paint the picture of life in Manhattan's tenements of the west slums.

The picture is like a Sinclair Lewis novel. No matter what walk of life you are in or what group you associate with, the characters in "Street Scene" will fit in with someone you know.

"Mollie Taylor," other of Sylvia Sidney and Lambert Rogers, is a woman who longs for love and for understanding. Her husband David Landau is a silent, satisfied man. The tenement house is flooded with whispered gossip about an "affair" which reaches the ears of Miss Sidney, a "straight," lovely girl despite her tenement life and a girl who understands her mother.

The jealous husband comes home one day when he is supposedly away from the city and finds his wife and the man about whom gossip is raging. There is a double murder and the father is taken away to prison.

WELL, all I know is just what I read in the papers. You know you don't know what a roller it is to get away from the papers a little while, and then sooner make a guess as to what has happened while you didn't get to see an item on Mr. W. R. Hearst's big ranch in Old Mexico and we didn't get a whole lot of news while I was out there and when I finally did why you wonder if it was what you were expecting.

Of course the World Series was on all the time I was there, and that I had figured about right, with the exception of thinking that Philadelphia would win, and I had it that Groves and Earnshaw would be the heroes. Well it was two pitchers but not them. I had just made a mistake in the names. I had the number right, and the position that they played right. But it was just Groves and Earnshaw. Then this Pepper Martin I had a fellow figured out to be the hero, but it wasn't just exactly Martin. It was two other fellows. But I did get part of it right, they played the games in St. Louis and Philadelphia, and they traveled in between. I had all that figured just about as it happened. Then they wanted to kill an umpire three one day. I had that figured just that way, only I had it every day instead of just one day.

Here is what Mrs. Markland has to say about TON-GE: "I was feeling badly, my stomach was in bad condition. What I ate hurt me and I had gas on my stomach so bad that I was in constant misery. TON-GE was recommended to me and I began taking it. After several bottles my stomach trouble disappeared and I am now feeling fine and my bowels are regular. WASHINGTON—When a premier of France comes for a brief call on the President of the United States he requires 12 trucks, 23 suitcases and half a dozen hat boxes. So much luggage requires a "chef de baggage." When the baggage was delivered by truck, the chef de baggage sat atop it. He wore striped trousers and a formal morning coat.

SAVANNAH, Ga.—Sixty-six years ago some Yankee troops—on the story goes—burned a church at Savannah. The new Sunday association thinks the government ought to pay for it now, and has adopted unanimously a resolution to that effect.

CULVER CITY, Calif.—The star-hour day idea has taken hold in the movies. Twenty per cent more men have been employed by the RKO-Palms construction department where work now is done in two six-hour shifts, with a half-hour off for lunch on each shift.

DETROIT, Mich.—Mrs. Tamara Ryshkeff has decided it is better to be just a plain, every-day American citizen than a Russian princess—particularly now that there are no longer any real princesses in Russia. She is a princess of the house of Krupnikin, her first husband dying fighting the Bolsheviks. A son, Igor Prince Krupnikin, now waits until he is 21 before he can renounce his nobility.

EVERYONE LOVES

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, Oct. 31

A PARTICULARLY interesting, eventful and stirring day is promised from the excellent chain of planetary configurations. These promise sudden change of far reaching influence on the affairs and environment, enhancing and stabilizing the fortunes by means of individual industry, ingenuity and independent effort. Affiliations with money or large bodies of a secret nature may bring signal success, fine friendships, and profitable contracts. But sign all writings with precaution and be discreet as to personal associations.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a signally successful and profitable year, with unforseen change, a stabilizing of the fortune, and contracts with important persons. These because of original talents and faithful application and responsibility. Sign papers carefully and be discreet personally. A child born on this day should be taught, original, independent, as well as hard working, steadfast and ambitious. It may figure conspicuously in the public eye, and happy.

Notable activity: Theodore Roosevelt, ex-President United States.

A very little change of time here added to the water will improve the color of constitutions.

BULKLEY CORRECTS REPORT OF MEETING

Says Farmers at Bellefontaine Did Not Approve Stabilization Plan.

An Associated Press item appearing in The Star on Oct. 13, giving a report of a meeting of farmers at Bellefontaine, was incorrect in its reference to a vote cast on the farm board's stabilization fee policy. According to information coming from United States Senator Robert J. Bulkley, of Cleveland, who was present at the meeting, the item reported that the 300 farmers at the meeting had voted their belief that the stabilization policy had been successful. Senator Bulkley, in a letter to The Star, says that the vote was exactly the contrary on this point, although the group did vote approval to the farm board's work in developing cooperation among farmers. The meeting was one of several that Senator Bulkley attended in Ohio for the purpose of obtaining views of farmers on the agricultural situation and its requirements.

Epworth M. E. Church Scene of Collins-Whitley Wedding

A WEDDING which will take place at the Epworth M. E. church, 1001 Collins street, Sunday morning when Miss Laura May Collins and William Ralph Whitley exchanged their nuptial vows at Epworth M. E. church. The single ring ceremony was read by the pastor, Dr. C. E. Turley at 11:30 o'clock immediately following the church service in the presence of relatives, close friends and members of the congregation.

Southern amity decorated the front of the bride's left and formed a background for the tall white baskets of white chrysanthemums which stood at either side of the altar. Palms and greenery completed the decorative note.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Gracie Davis Dumbough and included the love theme from Viennese Nights, "Little Star of Love" the bride's music from "Lohengrin" and the "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her grandfather, C. H. Ward of Logan and her attendant was her mother, Mrs. Bertha Collins and Miss Norma McDonald of Toledo, her roommate at Miami university. Mr. Whitley's father, J. F. Whitley of Griffin, Ga., acted as the best man and the ushers were Lawrence Foreman and Karl Holly.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin made with a sleeveless lace bodice and a full skirt of tulle. Thin Sandwich? Don't Have Man Do the Slicing
By its thickness does a sandwich reveal whether a man is a real man or a fake. It's a matter of pride with most women to cut their own sandwich. But man, who grabs a sandwich when hungry, likes it just and unadorned, and disregards its ornamental aspects.

Slicing has a lot to do with the flavor of many foods, and it's a mistake to adopt the habit of slicing everything alike. Very thin sandwiches are good enough for tea or late supper. But for the picnic or luncheon, the bread should be cut a bit thicker than elegance requires.

The Filling
How to slice the filling depends on the filling. Smoked meats, like tongue, corned beef, ham, yield best flavor when cut quite thin. Several layers being used as filling. This tastes much better than one thick slice. However, thinly sliced chicken is neither popular nor palatable, as the fat flavor of chicken seems to evaporate with fine slicing. Thicker cuts taste more like chicken.

Vegetable vary. Tomatoes cut in fairly thick slices preserve their flavor better, while cucumbers are usually preferred cut thin. Among fruits, bananas have a better texture and flavor when sliced very thin. Pineapple on the contrary, is at its best when cut in thick slices. The smaller it is sliced, the greater the loss of juice and flavor.

Unusual, but Good
Of course, personal prejudice enters into the culinary matter. An English guest might surprise her hostess when, at tea time, she is doated a preference for plain bread and butter and bread cut thick, plain. A bachelor friend who kindly offered to prepare the cheese sandwiches, turned out a delicious array—the bread cut thin enough to satisfy his capricious hostess and the cheese about four times as thick. Unusual, but very good indeed!

The opening of commercial telephone service between New York and Sydney, Australia, has added a population of about 5,000,000 persons to the total who can be reached by the American telephone system.

How Does a Woman Champion Manage?
Women champions cannot have "off days." Day after day of practice and play, and matches that permit no postponements! Then how do they manage during menstrual periods when other women are sunk with pain? They meet these monthly emergencies with Midol, and they don't even experience a twinge of periodic pain.

Harmless as it is, a Midol tablet blocks all possibility of periodic pain for hours at a stretch. It isn't a narcotic. But it acts in seven minutes, and lets you celebrate in comfort! Just ask the druggist for Midol.
